Contemporary Leathers is committed to reducing their impact on the environment and recognises that climate change caused by excessive burning of fossil fuels is a serious problem facing the global community.

Each year the average car in Australia uses 1920 litres of fuel and emits 4.33 tonnes of carbon dioxide (CO₂) greenhouse gas that contributes to climate change and global warming. Transport is Australia's major source of greenhouse gas emissions.

In Contemporary Leathers 2005 Sustainability Report, we aimed to reduce the impact associated with our sales team's car usage. In joining the Greenfleet* program, Greenfleet plants and maintains 17 native trees that will offset the CO₂ emissions for each car in a year.

Science shows that 17 mixed species will not only absorb CO₂ emissions, they can also address salinity, improve water quality and provide essential habitat for endangered species.

Contemporary Leathers is proud to become a Greenfleet member and be part of the solution. *Greenfleet is a non-profit environmental organisation and a member of the Federal Government's Greenhouse Challenge program.
